

CALL FOR SYMPOSIA

DIVISION OF ENVIRONMENTAL CHEMISTRY

American Chemical Society, 250th National Meeting, August 16-20, 2015

Boston, Massachusetts

Dear Colleagues,

We are now accepting proposals for the 250th American Chemical Society National Meeting to be held in Boston, Massachusetts, August 16-20, 2015. I invite you to organize a symposium:

- Exploring future innovations in environmental chemistry and engineering,
- Focused on the Boston meeting theme, Innovation from Discovery to Application,
- Developing interdisciplinary approaches to solving environmental issues, involving other ACS divisions or organizations, or
- Covering general areas of environmental chemistry, science and engineering.

If you are interested in organizing a session, send me a brief description of the symposium using the template posted on the Division website. In order for your symposium to be announced in C&E News, I will need your information by November 20, 2014. Symposia added after that date will be publicized on the Division's website only.

Dr. Dionysios Dionysiou
Fall Program Chair
ACS Division of Environmental Chemistry